

IAAH Congress 2018

SYMPOSIA

October 4th 2018

SYMPOSIA TITLE	Contraception of teenagers and young women today, tomorrow's reproductive health
RATIONALE AND CONTENT	In last years, it was registered a tendency regarding sexual life beginning at younger age. The lack of knowledge about the use of contraceptive methods by adolescents and young women leads to the occurrence of unwanted pregnancies, abortions and the risk of sexually transmitted diseases, all of which have a negative socio-economic impact. In this symposium, we propose to discuss the needs and possibilities of hormonal contraception in supporting the reproductive health of adolescents and young women.
Lead facilitator:	Ludmila Stavinskaia, Assist. university
Language	Romanian and Russian.
Schedule	October 4th, 16.30 – 17.30

GEDEON RICHTER